ANTHONY VACCARELLO | SHOWROOM SERIES

Anthony Vaccarello is a Paris based fashion designer, born in Brussels in 1980 from Italian parents.

Vaccarello graduated in 2006 from La Cambre-Mode in Belgium and won the same year the Grand Prize of the International Hyeres Festival. He was then contacted by the House of Fendi to design the furs and it was at the Palazzo where he got his basic training with Karl Lagerfeld.

Vaccarello is back in Paris and he goes it alone with his outstanding debut collections. Maria Luisa's Boutique showcased his second collection during the January Paris Couture Fashion week 2009. Joyce's Gallery at the Palais Royal presented his third collection during the recent October Paris Fashion week.

Vaccarello's collection reflects his vision concentrating on the two staples elements of the summer: the Jacket and the Swimsuit. The collection has a modern sensibility that contrasts a generous sensuality against a cold surrealism. Vaccarello's collections are true Pieces of Art, playing with strong contrast, sheers and deconstruct cuts.
